Licensing and Copyright Information

CRESTPOINT STUDIO
Last updated: November 22, 2026

1. Studio identity

Crestpoint Studio is the studio name used by Michael McPeake. Use of this name does not represent that the studio is an incorporated company, an LLC, or a registered trademark.

2. Application licenses

Applications are provided under the license terms applicable to their distribution. For App Store applications, Apple's Standard End User License Agreement applies where no custom agreement has been supplied. This information page does not replace that agreement or establish a separate custom EULA.

Apple Standard EULA: www.apple.com/legal/internet-services/itunes/dev/stdeula/

3. Copyright

© 2026 Michael McPeake. All rights reserved in original Crestpoint Studio materials to the extent owned by Michael McPeake.

Third-party software, images, audio, data, articles, streams, and other materials remain the property of their respective owners and are subject to their applicable licenses. This notice does not claim ownership of third-party material.

4. Third-party services and notices

Some applications use outside services or software. Applicable credits and license notices must accompany the relevant application or materials where required. Access to a service through an application does not grant permission to copy or redistribute its content.

References to third-party names identify relevant products or services and do not imply endorsement or affiliation.

5. Business registration

Software licensing, business licensing, company formation, and trademark registration are separate matters. This page is not a government business license or evidence of a business registration.

Licensing enquiries: michael.mcpeake08@gmail.com